

Press Release JKC New Atelier From London Back to Frankfurt

Jennifer Klein Couture is a contemporary couture house that caters to women looking for the exceptional and distinctive, whether it be a wedding gown or a couture coat, an elegant evening gown or delicate blouse. With radiant designs that encapsulate tradition and elegance without foregoing dreaminess and joie de vivre, each piece created in this house is truly exceptional. Jennifer Klein works with PRECIOUS fabrics such as silk, cashmere, and linen from the world's leading suppliers in Italy, France, Great Britain and Switzerland.

In March 2020 the couture house moved from an old brick factory in Offenbach to the diplomatic quarter in Frankfurt. In the immediate vicinity of the Botanical Gardens, Jennifer Klein presents her current collections, which are worn by customers from all over the world. Her clients appreciate the personal and exclusive service for which Jennifer Klein travels internationally, always in search of the finest fabrics and forgotten techniques. Jennifer Klein offers her international clients regular fittings in London, Munich, Paris, Geneva and Zurich.

Jennifer Klein is one of the few young fashion designers offering genuine COUTURE, in particular BRIDAL COUTURE. Even before the wedding day, she offers her clients a very personal and individual service for one of the most beautiful events in life. In addition to the uniquely designed and bespoke wedding dress for the ceremony, Jennifer Klein Couture offers exclusively crafted accessories for the bride as well as evening and cocktail dresses. She also advises on the dress coordination of the bridesmaids and flower children, creating beautiful and contemporary designs that can be worn for numerous occasions, not just the wedding.

After her embroidery training at the École Lesage in PARIS and her studies at Istituto Marangoni in LONDON, Jennifer Klein worked for two couture houses in London. At the end of 2017 she returned to Germany and opened her own couture house.

The house upholds centuries-old craftsmanship traditions on the brink of vanishing, linking these with the highest production standards and progressive values, at the heart of which lies SUSTAINABILITY. Only fabrics from transparent and sustainable family businesses which uphold the same values as Jennifer Klein Couture are used. In addition, the company's UPCYCLING SERVICE offers the opportunity to transform silk scarves that are no longer worn into dresses, blouses, bags and other accessories. The result is an exceptional and unique piece that reflects the personality of the wearer and allows the story of the textiles to live on.

As a counterbalance to the ever-accelerating mainstream fashion industry, Jennifer Klein has purposefully decided to position herself in the SLOW FASHION niche and to focus on the creation of sophisticated garments that last a lifetime. The creation process of each garment is accompanied by expertise and distinguished by the personal attention Jennifer Klein gives to each of her clients, from first getting to know them right through to the final fitting.
